

To Whom It May Concern,

I discovered JT Chinn while reviewing demo reels in my search for our future director of photography on my feature film "KRUEL". Originally the part of our antagonist, "Willie Kool", was written for the character to be seen but not heard in order to create mystery and fear in the audience, but when I saw one of the JT's performances on an earlier short film, I realized that he had a lot more range than I initially thought. I spent the next couple of months rewriting the character to take advantage of that range. Ultimately, working closely with JT on his character, I believe we have created a true classical movie villain. The response of the 250 people that we screened the movie for was absolutely overwhelming in reference to JT's character and how effectively he made the character come to life - he truly terrified the audience with his honest, disturbing portrayal of his character. I know he has range to play many different types of characters, but trust me (and the 250 people who saw him) if you have a part for a true villain, JT Chinn is your man! We are already getting interest from distribution companies for "KRUEL" and I can honestly say, it would not have been near as effective without JT as one of our leads!
